

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

First annual arab.european Documentary Convention release preliminary program and confirmed contributors

The arab.european Documentary Convention gathers exceptional documentary professionals and decision-makers from around the globe from April, 12-14th in Leipzig to foster connectivity, spark critical debate and ignite change. The 2018 aDC program includes a diverse array of debates, panels and case studies, as well as rough-cut and public screenings centred on the documentary industry across Europe and the Arab region.

March 16, 2018

BERLIN – The preliminary program and list of confirmed contributors for the first annual arab.european Documentary Convention (aDC) are now available online. Structured around five thematic modules, the program focuses on debates, presentations and expert group discussions on challenges faced by documentary filmmakers. The side program includes expert engagement with rough-cut screenings, for which aDC is pleased to announce its collaboration with Bejaia Film Laboratoire and the selection of Algeria as this year's focus country.

Main highlights include a public screening of the Academy Award®-nominated documentary "Last Men in Aleppo" on day two of aDC'18 and a surprise creative Master Class on the final day. Beyond the fixed program, aDC'18 will serve as a platform for extensive networking and consultancy.

Among the growing list of international contributors, aDC is pleased to announce Cara Mertens, director of JustFilms, Ford Foundation and a surprise guest as keynote speakers. They will be joined by the following newly confirmed contributors: Cecilia Lidin, Danish Film Institute, Denmark; Jowe Harfouche, NAAS Network, Lebanon; Leena Pasanen, Director DOK Leipzig Festival, Finland/Germany; Leila Hourani, Ford Foundation, Egypt; Mohamed Soueid Director/Writer/Producer, Lebanon; and Vesna Cudic, Head of Sales at Met Film, UK.

Stay tuned for even more inspiring speakers and program highlights!

Registration is now open for aDC'18 in Leipzig, April, 12-14th. Given the limited number of remaining spots, make sure to secure your ticket soon!

To learn more about the convention and how to get involved, please visit our website documentary-convention.org, follow us on Facebook and Twitter or contact the organising committee at documentary.convention@documentary-convention.org.

For media and PR requests, please contact Maya Szydlowska: maya@documentary-convention.org, +49 (0) 30-40751906